Antigua

- The Registration Laws. The Registration of births and deaths is governed by Antigua Ordinance No. 15 of 1870 as amended by Acta Nos. 4 of 1872, 4 of 1880 and 2 of 1885 and Ordinance No. 16 of 1920, and the registration of marriages by Antigua Ordinance No. 15 of 1923.
- Procedure. The information required to be registered concerning a birth must be given within thirty days of the birth by the parent or occupier of the dwelling in which the birth occurred to the Registrar of the parish in which the child is born.

The information required to be registered concerning a death must be given within thirty hours of the death by the parent or occupier of the house, including heads of public institutions, in which the death occurred, to the Registrar of the parish in which the death occurred.

All the provisions concerning the registration of births and deaths apply to all stillborn children who shall have arrived at a period of viability.

In the case of a marriage information must be given by the marriage officer immediately after the solemnization or celebration of the marriage to the Registrar General or the Registrar of the parish.

3. Particulars to be registered. The particulars to be given for the registration of a birth are:

Date of birth; sex of child; the name of the child if a name shall have been given it, or the proposed baptismal name; if such child be legitimate, the name of the father and mother; if illegitimate the name of the mother and residence of the mother.

The particulars relating to a deceased person which are required to be entered in the death register are:—

Date of death: name and surname of deceased; sex; complexion; age; cause of death.

On the registration of a marriage the following information in respect of each party to the marriage is recorded:—

Date of marriage: name and surname; age; condition; rank or profession; residence at time of marriage; after banns or licence; consent by whom given.

- Costody of Registers. Filled registers and other records of births, deaths and marriages are deposited in the custody of the Registrar General and date back to 1856.
- Searches and Certificates. Searches can be made and certified copies of any entries in the registers can be obtained on application addressed to the Registrar General.
- 6. Fees. The fees payable are:-

For the registration of births,	deaths	or mai	riages	100		N

Andrews Index from IHGS in Canterbury now on Ancestry

The Andrews Index - c 250,000 cards indexingnotices from newspapers, the London Gazette and several other official sources including obituaries, next of kin advertisements, will notices, unclaimed estates, notices under the Colonial Probate Act of 1892 (which recognised Probates from courts in British Posessions), births marriages and deaths abroad. It is not certain what exact dates are covered but the dates of death are usually in the 20th century referring back to individuals born in the late 18th century. The latest date of death found has been 1976. Quite often the original newspaper cutting has been annotated either with references from the original wills or with information gathered from Civil Registration. The Andrews Index assists those undertaking a "one-name study" as it is useful for locating information about individuals who seem simply to disappear.
